When the Teddy Came to Life

One night my teddy came to life. It sneaked out of the house and it went to the park. It went to the park to play on the playground. He was playing on the swing when he saw an X. He went to the X and saw a spade. He picked up the spade and started to dig. The teddy never came back.

Old Toys

I like toys that are very old because they are interesting to see. Once I did see an old toy car in my grandma's house. It was my dad's car and its colour was purple.

The Dragon

Once upon a time there was a dragon. For breakfast he had doughnuts. But one day when he went to the supermarket there were none left. So he went home miserable. That day he had a plan. The plan was: he would destroy the land and find lots of doughnuts in other dragons' homes. So that day he did. He even destroyed his family's house and his friends' houses. The Council told the Mayor about the dragon. He was terrified to hear about that good dragon. So a fierce dragon came and it was trying to get the doughnuts back. That day the dragon learned not to destroy houses or try to get all of the doughnuts in the town. All of the dragons lived happily ever after.
